EXPERIENCE

Independent Investor & Forex Trader

Actively engaged in financial markets with a focus on long-term stock investment and algorithmic forex trading. Specialized in analyzing financial statements for equity selection and holding assets for over two years to maximize value. Spent over 80% of time studying forex charts, testing a wide range of trading strategies, Expert Advisors, and AI-based systems. Despite the intensity of forex trading, the majority of income was consistently generated from stock investments.

Developed deep expertise in market psychology, risk management, and strategy refinement through hands-on experience.

Athlete & Instrument Player

For more than 18 years, I have been deeply engaged in both sports and music. As an athlete, I practiced boxing, running, and volleyball, and earned degrees in physical fitness, including certification as a third-grade coach. I also completed courses in fitness and fat-burning exercises, and I am a skilled swimmer. Alongside sports, I have played traditional Iranian instruments — Setar, Tar, and Tonbak — with dedication and artistry for nearly two decades. These experiences reflect discipline, resilience, and creativity, shaping both my professional and personal growth.

Purpose

I love learning, because every new idea makes me a little better than yesterday. I love reading, poetry, and running — each one gives me space to breathe and think. I love trading, because it challenges me and reminds me that freedom is the real reward.

The common thread in all of this is freedom: freedom to grow, freedom to explore, freedom to live life on my own terms. My purpose is simple — to keep moving forward, becoming better every day in every aspect.
